Teachers to picket, schools to remain open

By Paul Guggina
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Schools will be open Tuesday morning despite an impending teachers strike, Superintendent Gib Walmsley said Saturday.

The Granite City Federation of Teachers Thursday night voted by a 3-to-1 margin to reject an offer by the Board of Education and strike Tuesday morning.

But schools will remain open and students will be expected to board buses running on the regular heat schedule early Tuesday morning, he said.

In a statement issued Saturday morning, shortly after he had been notified in writing of the teacher's planned strike, Walmsley said "all — repeat, all — employees and pupils are to report to school on the heat schedule Tuesday morning."

Walmsley, who said he was acting at the school board's direction, was "hopeful" that enough teachers would show up for work to hold a regular school day despite the strike.

"We are going to run a normal school day," Walmsley said. "If our teachers are striking, and I don't have enough staff to operate the schools, then the students will be sent home."

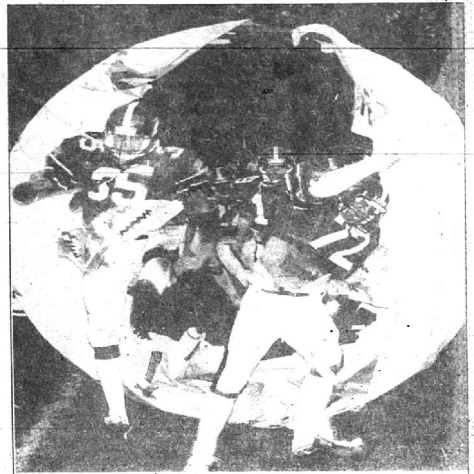

The district is still following its special heat schedule, which calls for some schools to open at 7 a.m.

The board was expected to officially close schools at a special meeting Friday night. But after nearly three hours, board members emerged from the closed meeting and took no action.

"They are going to wait because they have no formal receipt of a strike notice," said Terry Salein, spokesman for the board's negotiating team.

Union President Shirley Stoll said she was surprised by the board's decision to leave

THE HIGHLIGHT of the Warriors' season opener Friday night was the moment Kory Burton and Ali Mohsen, two of the team's three captains, broke through the paper at Memorial Stadium. It was all downhill from there, as the Cahokia Comanches crushed Granite City, 33-0. See Sports, page B1.

Hartigan brings $14,500 to Phoenix Center

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan visited the Phoenix Crisis Center on Thursday to present its director with a $14,500 check from the Violent Crime Victims' Assistance Program.

The check was the second installment in a $29,000 1988 grant to Phoenix, which provides shelter, counseling and other services to victims of domestic violence in the Quad City area.

Phoenix also gets funding from the Tri-Cities Area United Way and donations of money and goods from area churches and individuals.

The crime victims program is funded through fines levied by judges against those convicted of violent crimes.

Since its inauguration in 1985, the program has provided almost $5 million to 130 Illinois agencies that help victims of abuse and violence and $6 million in direct compensation to victims of violent crimes.

The attorney general said he was visiting some of the programs around the state "to get a sense of what we could do and how we could do it better."

Nationwide, Hartigan said, "We spend hundreds of millions of dollars protecting the rights of criminals. The other side of that — the protection of the rights of victims — is virtually non-existent."

Hartigan said Illinois "has done a terrible job, more than other states, maybe, but still a terrible job" of protecting the rights of victims.

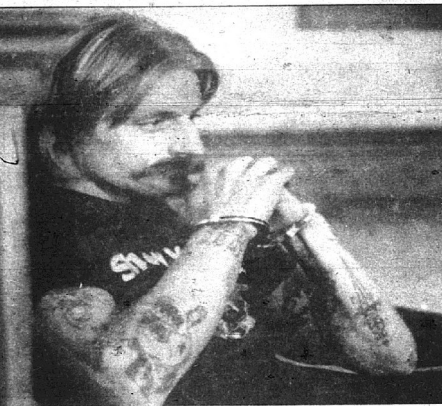

Hartigan visited with Carol Chiappa, director of Phoenix, State Rep. Sam Wolf and Sgt.

Rich Ballew of the Madison police. Ballew helped start Phoenix and serves on its board of directors.

Phoenix Center can accommodate only 14 women and children at a time, Chiappa told Hartigan that the Quad City area needs at least two more such facilities to meet the level of need.

Hartigan said he wasn't surprised. "It's the same all over the state," he said. "The minute you open a place, it's full."

Gene Arnett

Officers will remember... Arnett's fall

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Gene H. Arnett was only out of prison a couple months last fall, but it was a couple of months that will be remembered.

Todd Serum was killed with a shotgun while he "drove" on Interstate 270 north of town. Nancy Bennett was beaten to death with a tire tool while she worked as a clerk at Huck's in Pontoon Beach. Michael Snodgrass was shot with a shotgun and left for dead while he was an attendant at the Clark Service Station on Nameoki Road, Granite City.

In every region where "mad dog killers" are on the loose, police Lt. Don Knight said, "The only thing you think of is getting them — doing whatever you have to do to get them off the street."

Lt. Col. Ron Selph was a lieutenant on the desk a day or two after the Serum shooting. Knight was a detective sergeant.

'We knew we had a homicidal individual running around'
Ron Selph

"I got an anonymous call from a gal," Selph said. "She said 'The person you want just got out of Menard (Correctional Facility).'"

It's so strange: you get calls like that all the time, mostly cranks.

"Maybe it was ESP or whatever, but something about that call struck me so I wrote a note to Don. It turned out to be right."

Knight said the next big break came Nov. 16.

Surprise detour by bus driver upsets Frohardt pupils

By Patrick Foley
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A bus load of Frohardt School students arrived home late Aug. 26, some as much as 45 minutes, after an R.W. Harmon and Sons bus took a detour from its usual route.

Two sisters, first and third graders at Frohardt, were in tears after getting off the bus when it finally arrived on Oakmont Drive in Pontoon Beach 45 minutes behind its scheduled stop.

Their mother, who asked not to be identified, said she later found out that her children had been taken to a bus company parking lot on West Chain of Rocks Road after the bus driver found the bus had been vandalized.

John Buxton, contract manager for the Harmon bus company, said, "What happened

Friday was not particularly unusual.

"We do have disciplinary procedures we follow," he said. Buxton said the company has had other drivers with similar discipline problems that were handled in the same manner. He referred further questions to school district officials.

Rich Brinkhoff, administrative assistant for elementary instruction in Granite City School District 9, said, "Normally what happens is the bus takes the children back to the school. I've never heard of them taking them to the bus company."

"I talked to (Frohardt School Principal Donald) Kopp. I understand there was about $100 worth of vandalism to the seats. I haven't talked to him about (who did it)."

The mother of the girls had called the school and the bus company when the bus failed to show up on time at the bus stop.

"Normal procedure is to take the children back to the school and let the principal handle it. It does become the principal's responsibility at that point," Brinkhoff said.

The girls' mother said she didn't like her children being driven around, especially outside of the city. She agreed the bus should have been taken back to the school if disciplinary measures were necessary.

She said the parents of the children on the bus being detained should have been notified rather than being left waiting at the bus stop wondering where their children were.

"I don't know at this point what will be done," Brinkhoff said. "I'm sure the bus driver will be told that it was an inappropriate procedure."

September spotlights sickle cell anemia

September is National Sickle Cell Anemia Month. Elizabeth Medical Center is calling attention to the disease and reminding the black community of the importance of testing as a preventive measure.

"Sickle cell anemia is an inherited blood disease," said Rosemary Thomas, M.T., A.S.C.P., supervisor of hematology in the laboratory at SEMC. "First found in Africa, it afflicts people of black ancestry everywhere. It is caused by an abnormal gene that causes the red cells or oxygen-carrying part of the blood to form incorrectly."

The red cells of sickle cell sufferers are not always round, like those of non-sickle cell people. They may be abnormally shaped or crescent shaped. In this stage, they cannot carry oxygen efficiently.

Both parents must carry the sickle cell trait in order to pass it on to their children. If two carriers of sickle cell have a child, the chances are one in four that their child will have the disease.

Approximately 10 percent of all blacks carry the trait and one in 400 blacks develops sickle cell anemia.

"If someone carries the trait, it does not mean that they have sickle cell anemia or are sick. They themselves may be healthy," Thomas said.

However, sufferers of sickle cell anemia rarely live beyond young adulthood. Many die in childhood.

"Sickle cell anemias are usually diagnosed in childhood. The abnormality can also be discovered in prenatal screenings."

"It is very important for a woman's doctor to know if she has sickle cell if she is pregnant. It is also important to have children of black ancestry tested at an early age," Thomas said.

"As children, sickle cell sufferers are sick a lot and usually have mild to severe anemia. As they grow up, their body may adjust to the anemia. Eventually, they probably will have a sickle cell crisis," she said.

For persons of black ancestry, it is considered very important to have their children tested or to be tested themselves, if they are thinking of having a child.

A sickle cell screening is the only way to discover if the hemoglobin gene abnormality which causes sickle cell is present.

There is no cure for sickle cell anemia at this time. Persons of black ancestry can help prevent this disease by being tested and having their children tested, Thomas said.

"If a test is positive, we can run a second test to determine whether the person has the disease or the trait for the disease."

GETTING PHYSICAL: Georgia Mircheff, in black swimsuit facing camera, leads a group of women in water exercises set to music at the Wilson Park pool. Mircheff, a certified physical education instructor, said the informal class was in three areas: body conditioning, water ballet and aerobics. The class, the first conducted by a certified instructor, was held during the senior citizen swim session at the pool each weekday morning. Mircheff said that being in water allows increased mobility that is not possible in regular exercise and aerobics classes.

Schnucks Market to collect toys to benefit ill children

From Sept. 5 until Oct. 2, residents can help out both sick children and a community institution — by bringing new and gently used toys, sporting goods and juvenile furniture to any area Schnucks Market.

This toy collection drive will help St. Louis Children's Hospital reach its goal of 800,000 items for its Toy Depot bargain sale in November.

Shoppers can deposit their donations at specially marked Toy Depot cartons near the entrance of each store.

Drivers and trucks from Coca-Cola will pick up all toys and deliver them to the Toy Depot warehouse. Then, volunteers from the Auxiliary and Twigs organizations, the two sponsoring Children's Hospital fund-raising organizations, will sort and price everything for the sale day.

On Nov. 12, the sale will take place at 9 a.m. at Kiel Auditorium, 1400 Market St., St. Louis. Proceeds from the sale will benefit children in the hospital's Transplant Program.

Toy Depot reaps double rewards for the hospital. Not only does it offer families toys, sporting goods and juvenile equipment at reasonable prices, but in its seven-year history has raised more than $500,000 for the hospital.

Those who wish more information may call (314) 454-2758, or for large item pickup, (314) 454-6106.

Condensed statements outlined opposing views

John J. Hopkins, a Granite City attorney whose statement appeared in the Sept. 1 issue, criticized prosecutors' withdrawal of charges against Alderman Daniel Partney and two Granite City police officers.

Hopkins' statement was greatly condensed due to time and space limitations.

A typographical error in the following paragraph, which was condensed in the published version, reversed Hopkins' intended Hopkins verbally predicted there will be additional developments in the controversy over Police Department promotion tests.

One of the initial investigators of test score allegations, Hopkins pointed out that his departure from the position of assistant city attorney was due to his own decision.

He believes successful handling of the police case was complicated by premature disclosure of allegations, and by less-than-vigorous efforts by the Office of the State's Attorney of Madison County. State's Attorney Dick Allen and the special prosecutor deny they neglected their duties in any way.

Hopkins stressed that he assembled what he considered adequate evidence, and that when others took over the case he feels they should have decided whether it was adequate before indictments were sought and trial preparations were made.

Statements headed "Withdrawal of charges criticized" and "No politics in dropping of charges" were published together on Thursday's editorial page, expressing opposing viewpoints.

The latter commentary, by Leon G. Scroggins, Partney's attorney, also was condensed.

meaning. The uncondensed paragraph read:

"Despite the constant rantings by Mr. Partney, I did not begin this investigation into the alleged cheating on the sergeant's promotional examination to derail his mayoral ambitions. The voters of Granite City have twice rejected Mr. Partney's attempts to occupy City Hall. I have no doubt that they will have the good sense to turn him down should he try for a third time."

He would be surprised if Partney is elected as the next mayor and bitterly opposes such a possibility; he thinks it would be a mistake by voters if it occurs, he said Thursday afternoon.

Mounds offer Equinox view

The fall equinox sunrise observation is scheduled for 6:45 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 25, at the Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site's ancient sun calendar, Woodhenge.

Long ago, the prehistoric residents of Cahokia Mounds built a sun calendar system that determines the changing seasons of the year. The fall equinox sunrise is the most spectacular of these sunrises, a Mounds spokesman said.

As the sun rises on the first day of fall, it appears to emerge from Monks Mound, which was the residence of the city's leader. The sun's position in the sky also lines up with the equinox post.

The public is invited to witness the fall equinox sunrise as the Indians did long ago. Those who wish more information may call the Cahokia Mounds Museum at 344-5268.

Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site is near Collinsville, off Interstate 255, 55/70 and Illinois 111 on Collinsville Road.

The jamboree will feature activities such as wind surfing, patch trading, rifle practice, kayaking and canoeing, black powder shooting, and off-road bike racing.

The Cahokia Mound Council will hold an information rally for interested Scouts and parents at 7 p.m. Sept. 7 at the Granite City Township Hall, 2060 Delmar Ave. Scouts will be invited to join the Cahokia jamboree contingent.

Christian Law speaker at Central Baptist Church

Christian Law Association representative Dan Glover will be speaking about the work of CLAs attorneys in defending the freedom of churches and Christian schools in services at Central Baptist Church, 3940 Highway 111, today (Sunday) at 9:45 and 10:45 a.m.

His presentations will follow the theme of "Standing for the Cause of Christ with Courage." He will also provide special vocal music.

The CLA began in 1977 to provide litigation services to churches and Christian schools whose freedom of religion was threatened. It sends no bill when defending churches and Christians. CLA makes no charge either for its lawyers and support staff in Cleveland or for required briefs, travel, motel accommodations and food.

Supported by contributions from churches and individuals, CLA is based in Conneaut, Ohio. Wayne P. Angers, missionary to the deaf in Brazil, will speak on his work at 6:15 p.m. today (Sunday) at Central Baptist.

A graduate of Trinity College, Jacksonville, Fla., he has been approved by Baptist Missions to Forgiven Peoples to work with the many thousands of deaf people in Brazil.

The public is invited. Nurseries are provided for every service, and the church may be called at 931-0964 if transportation is needed.

Professor to speak about Christian law

Dr. Hal Stultz will be the featured speaker today, Sunday, at Mt. Zion General Baptist Church, 2067 Benton St.

The service will begin at 7 p.m.

Stultz has served with the Christian Law Association for three years. He also teaches at the White Plains Bible School in North Carolina. He will speak on legal issues and how they affect the Christian home and school.

The public is invited.

slender person herself. She also taught a diet class, "Right Weight," and was instrumental in starting a program, "Shopping for Heart Health," with area Schnucks supermarkets.

"She was really enthusiastic about the programs she was working on," said Carol Winders, a nurse and dietitian at the medical center who had worked professionally with Rose Mary. "She was always real nice and asked how I was doing and what was happening."

Riggs said all the Optifast patients thought highly of Rose Mary. "They thought she was the greatest. Everybody really looked forward to the behavior modification sessions. She was like a breath of fresh air to the patients."

She, likewise, had the same effect on people she worked side-by-side with in the dietitians' office. She could ease tensions by cracking jokes, batting her eyelashes, or her nose, altering her voice, or pretending to be sking. Her vacation plans included a skiing trip to Colorado.

"She brought warm feelings into the department," said Ecty Riggs said, her immediate supervisor. She recalled the day Rose Mary baked cookies to cheer up a frazzled dietitian. "The time she would bring in chocolate 'kisses' to give to everyone."

There wasn't a phony bone in her body," Riggs said. "I don't think you could find one person who didn't like her."

Riggs said she was deeply loved by many people. "I don't think there is anyone who can overtake her in many times."

She was that special, her associates agreed.

Police

"A guy came into the station, a security guard for Shop and Save, and he told me one employee had put the word out about the guy doing the highway shootings," Knight said.

"I knew where the car was and that the guy was named Gene Arnett."

"Unknown to me, he had just at a meeting where they offered a $10,000 reward; it was going to be put in the papers the next day, but he didn't know."

Knight said the car wasn't immediately located, but was eventually found at the Texaco station at Illinois 3 and Chain of Rocks Road.

"We didn't search it or anything, but we kind of looked at it. The back seat was pulled out and we could see a shotgun shell laying down there," Knight said.

Because the car wasn't in its jurisdiction, the Granite City Police Department turned it, and the investigation of the Scrum shooting, over to the Illinois Department of Criminal Investigation.

Knight said Granite City put out a word to pick up Arnett because "we were scared about what he might do."

"Lo and behold, in the early morning hours of Oct. 19th of November he went into the Clark Station and shot the attendant point blank in the back."

Arnett was the second policeman on the scene at the Clark Station.

"You could still see the smoke still smell it everywhere in the air. We couldn't tell where he was shot — he was lying there with a pool of blood around his shoulders and head. We thought he had been head shot."

"The general consensus was that he was dead," Knight said. "A guy who had killed two people, and the only light we had was flashlights."

"We searched the bathroom. The next room was a small bedroom with a baby bed, with a baby in it, and a table. We went to the master bedroom."

"The TV was on and you could smell smoke. We knew he was there somewhere, but we couldn't find him. We looked into the small bedroom again."

"I'll never forget what I saw — seeing this table had human arms with tattoos."

"What he had done was crouch down and put a blanket over his head so that it looked like a tablecloth."

"It's amazing how he had done it," Selph said. "Remember, they missed him the first time around. He could have had a gun."

"Parker and Schardan put guns on him and said show us your hands," Knight said. "I went over and took the blanket off him, cuffed him and we took him to the station. In the baby bed there was a small baby's blanket."

"The investigation had been a total effort, Selph and Knight said, with patrols looking for Arnett, getting and following tips, keeping track of developments while on and off-duty."

"When you face something like that, everyone knows you have to get down and do it," Knight said. "You have to protect the citizens."

"Everybody on and off duty was of one mind. All 52 policemen on the force were of one mind. All were concentrating everything to get this guy off the street," Selph said.

Arnett was convicted of killing Scrum. He pleaded guilty to killing Benno and shooting Snodgrass, and has been sentenced to spend the rest of his natural life in prison.

"I hope he stays there," Selph said. "But he is going to get to live the rest of his natural life. That's what possibility away from those two people."

"We had to go up there where there was a guy who had killed two people, and the only light we had was flashlights."

"We searched the bathroom. The next room was a small bed-

Strike

"I'm surprised because in the past the board didn't require formal notification of our actions," she said. "We know what we're going to do Tuesday morning, and the board knows. We have been picketing every building and at the board office."

After learning of the board's action, Stoll gave Walmesley written notice of the strike. Shortly after, Walmesley released the announcement that schools would remain open.

If busloads of students showed up at schools where picket lines had been formed, Stoll said, nothing would occur to endanger the children's safety.

"I don't know what would happen — that would be up to the bus driver," she said. "But it will be a peaceful strike."

Stoll said she doubted the schools would be able to operate during a strike.

"I don't think the superintendent can expect to find very many teachers in the classrooms," she said.

The strike vote was taken several hours after the union's team received its first offer by the school board. The board has not released details of the offer, but Stoll said it included a 4 percent raise for all teachers for one year and a re-opener for further salary negotiations next fall.

The teachers made a counter offer requesting consecutive raises of 10 percent both this year and next.

"We told the board's team before we left that board room Thursday — we made it very clear, and they know it — we told them we would not recommend their proposal to the membership," Stoll said.

The soonest the board can officially cancel classes is Tuesday night at its regularly scheduled board meeting.

"Parents, guardians and babysitters must be aware that pupils may well be sent home very shortly before noon on Thursday," Walmesley said.

Walmesley encouraged parents to listen to radio stations WGN, KMOX, KXOK or KSD for updated information Tuesday morning.

Question: How can hypnotherapy assist in weight reduction?

Answer: Hypnotherapy is an effective tool for achieving weight reduction. Through progressive relaxation we are able to distract the conscious mind thus allowing the subconscious mind to receive positive suggestions. It is achieved by the gathering information through an interview that allows us to find individual weaknesses, thus personalizing the session. In many cases, we find that an individual has experienced in the past or some significant event causes the overeating behavior. Through the elimination of this imprint, we are able to prove successful weight reduction and achieve great goals.

Question: Is hypnosis approved by the American Medical Association?

Answer: The AMA approved hypnosis as a therapeutic tool in 1958.

Question: Can anyone be hypnotized?

Answer: Yes, anyone with a normal intelligence level. Actually, the most intelligent clients show the best results.

GRANITE CITY — Rose Mary Scherer had her whole life ahead of her. She was the single girl next door who had everything going for her — bright, considerate and exuberant. Her career, family and friends gave her all the joy she needed.

But on Aug. 31 her life tragically ended in a fatal car crash on the Poplar Street Bridge.

The car she was driving was struck from behind by an out-of-state recreational vehicle during a late-rush-hour traffic snarl.

Both vehicles were quickly engulfed in flames, and Rose Mary, who was 30, died, trapped inside her automobile. The four people in the RV survived.

Those who knew her expressed feelings of emptiness, shock, vulnerability and horror at her violent death. They described the loss as something similar to losing a brother or sister. No one could find any sense or logic to it.

Earlier in the day, Rose Mary had been her usual happy-go-lucky self, singing in the office, lifting people's spirits and making everyone laugh. "She seemed to love life and everything in it," said Edna Hayes, a friend and co-worker.

The day after associates in the Dietary Department gathered with social workers to come to grips with the reality of her untimely death. During the meeting, many happy memories of her were shared in a room crowded with fellow workers. It was evident she had touched many people's lives, even though she had only worked at the medical center for a little over a year.

"It's amazing how many people's lives she influenced here," said Mark Peters, a fellow dietitian.

What lives in his mind and the minds of many are her constant smile and her cheerfulness. "She was always chipper," said Bonnie Golden. "She was always smiling, always laughing."

Humility was part of her character. One time, she accidentally backed her car up over her eyeglasses and she was the first to slender person herself. She also taught a diet class, "Right Weight," and was instrumental in starting a program, "Shopping for Heart Health," with area Schnucks supermarkets.

"She was really enthusiastic about the programs she was working on," said Carol Winders, a nurse and dietitian at the medical center who had worked professionally with Rose Mary. "She was always real nice and asked how I was doing and what was happening."

Riggs said all the Optifast patients thought highly of Rose Mary. "They thought she was the greatest. Everybody really looked forward to the behavior modification sessions. She was like a breath of fresh air to the patients."

She, likewise, had the same effect on people she worked side-by-side with in the dietitians' office. She could ease tensions by cracking jokes, batting her eyelashes, or her nose, altering her voice, or pretending to be sking. Her vacation plans included a skiing trip to Colorado.

"She brought warm feelings into the department," said Ecty Riggs said, her immediate supervisor. She recalled the day Rose Mary baked cookies to cheer up a frazzled dietitian. "The time she would bring in chocolate 'kisses' to give to everyone."

There wasn't a phony bone in her body," Riggs said. "I don't think you could find one person who didn't like her."

Riggs said she was deeply loved by many people. "I don't think there is anyone who can overtake her in many times."

Question: How can hypnotherapy assist in weight reduction?
Answer: Hypnotherapy is an effective tool for achieving weight reduction. Through progressive relaxation we are able to distract the conscious mind thus allowing the subconscious mind to receive positive suggestions. It is achieved by the gathering information through an interview that allows us to find individual weaknesses, thus personalizing the session. In many cases, we find that an individual has experienced in the past or some significant event causes the overeating behavior. Through the elimination of this imprint, we are able to prove successful weight reduction and achieve great goals.
Question: Is hypnosis approved by the American Medical Association?
Answer: The AMA approved hypnosis as a therapeutic tool in 1958.
Question: Can anyone be hypnotized?
Answer: Yes, anyone with a normal intelligence level. Actually, the most intelligent clients show the best results.

Moody Blues: Players changed through the years, but mood hasn't

By Paul A. Harris
Staff affiliate

When the enchanting, full orchestra sound of "Nights in White Satin" hit American and British airwaves in 1968, the Moody Blues were faced with the mammoth task of replicating their recorded sound in live concerts. Economics prohibited them from touring with a full symphony orchestra.

Instrument called the mellotron, which produced effects resembling full string and choral sections. By employing the mellotron for concerts, the Moodies became pioneers — albeit reluctant ones — of exotic rock electronics.

The band will appear at the Budweiser Mundy Starfest at 8 p.m. Wednesday-Sept. 7. Also appearing will be Glass Tiger. Tickets are $16.50, $17.50 and $18.50, and are on sale at Famous-Barr, Dillard's, the Mundy box office, Westport Playhouse box office, or by calling Dinitix at (314) 434-6600. In a career that has spanned 20 years and produced 16 recordings, the Moody Blues have never totally abandoned that exotic sound. It was attributed in part to the elegant woodwind playing of flutist Ray Thomas, which has consistently set their sound apart from the rock mainstream by adding texture and buoyancy. It also explains the band's selection of keyboard player Patrick Moraz, when Pinder left during a reunion recording session in 1978. Moraz became accustomed to stepping into impressive shoes when he replaced Rick Wakeman as the keyboard player for Yes in the early 1970s. Wakeman, after all, was an acknowledged keyboard wizard who had helped to propel that band to superstardom. In replacing him, Moraz had a great deal of rock tradition to contend with.

Likewise in 1978 when he was approached by the Moodies to fill Pinder's shoes, Moraz had recently left Yes, fallen in love and moved to Brazil. He was intermittently recording and playing club dates with Yes percussionist Bill Bruford. It was during one of those dates, in Miami, that the Moodies made their pass.

THE MOODY BLUES are, from left, Justin Hayward, Ray Thomas, Patrick Moraz, Graeme Edge and John Lodge. The group will appear at the Mundy at 8 p.m. Sept. 7.

Comanches blast Warriors in opener

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — For Ron Yates, it was a disturbing case of deja vu. For Rob Eden, it was a fresh and encouraging new beginning.

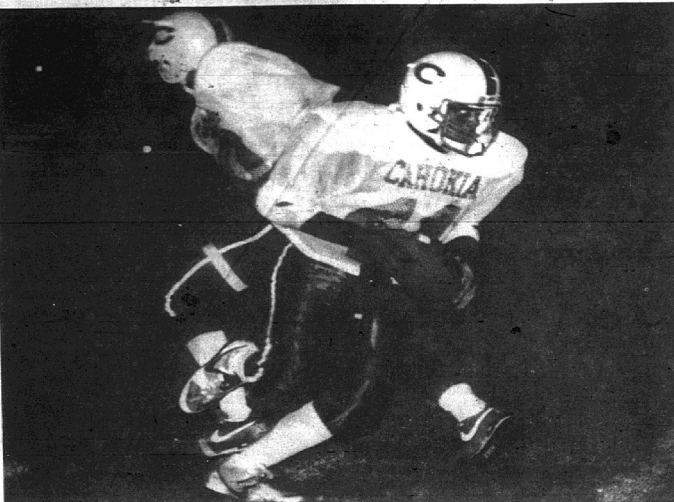

The 1988 high school football opener on Friday at Memorial Stadium matched up two teams trying to bounce back from poor 1987 seasons. The Cahokia Comanches appear headed back in a big way. The Warriors appear stuck in the same old rut.

The Comanches let loose a stable of quick running backs en route to a 33-0 victory over the outmarched Warriors. Nehmia Sims led Cahokia with 123 yards on 16 carries. Cornelius Johnson added 104 yards on 13 carries with a touchdown as the Comanches rolled up 323 rushing yards and 374 total yards.

The Warriors, meanwhile, were limited to 47 total yards, including a minus 24 rushing. Quarterback Joe Wallace was sacked four times for 43 yards in losses to contribute to that total.

"It was a lot like last year," said Yates, whose team went 2-7 last year with a dormant offense. "It was a little bit of a shock to me the way they out-manned us. They have some good, quick runners. They're going to win some games."

"We didn't have the running game going like this the last two years" when the Comanches lost to the Warriors in season openers," said Eden. "We've got some speed. And it's not just one NEHMIA SIMS of the Cahokia Comanches takes a handoff from quarterback Larry Wynn and heads upfield for some of his 123 yards in Cahokia's win over the Warriors.

Quick-striking Warriors dump Belleville Althoff

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

BELLEVILLE — The soccer Warriors got the season off to a quick start — certainly too quick for Belleville Althoff. And a little too quick for some fans and one sports editor.

Thursday's varsity game was scheduled to start following a junior varsity game at 4 p.m. at BAC. But at the last minute it was decided to play the varsity game first.

That accounted for many late arrivals — including yours truly — who wanted to see the varsity game. And one didn't need to miss too much action to miss the Warriors wrap up their 5-0 win.

Junior John VanBuskirk scored just 38 seconds into the game when he headed in senior Jim Hawkins' centering pass. It was 4-0 before 17 minutes had been played and the Warriors scored all five goals in the first half en route to the season-opening win.

With the teachers strike all but a certainty starting Tuesday, the Warriors had a big home date against St. Louis powerhouse Vianey at the Gauntlet on Saturday (junior varsity at 5 p.m., varsity immediately following) before possibly starting an unscheduled — and unwanted — vacation.

"I don't want the boys out playing soccer together if there is a strike," said Warrior coach Gene Baker. "They should be out running and lifting to stay in condition."

The Warriors were in fine shape during their first-half explosion on Thursday. Following VanBuskirk's quick strike, seniors Scott Stone and Bob Strubberg found the back of the net twice each as the Crusaders were buried.

"Althoff is a much better team than the score would indicate," said Baker. "It's early, and they are going to play much better. I just hope this wasn't a Pyrrhic victory for us."

Baker was referring to an injury suffered by senior Chris Nolan, the starting left wing-back. Nolan went down hard early in the second half with what Baker feared could be a dislocated thumb.

"Chris is a key player for us," Baker said. "You hate to have something like that happen, especially in the first game. Teams like Vianey or CSC can lose a couple of players and still be strong. But we have to avoid injuries."

Stone, the team's leading scorer in 1987 with nine goals, wasted little time breaking into the 1988 scorers' list. He made it 2-0 on an assist from senior Chris Ryan at the 6:00 mark. Then it was Strubberg on an assist from VanBuskirk at the 11:05 mark. Stone got his second at 16:38 on an assist from sophomore Pat Rich before Strubberg finished

Trojans get shock from Bulldogs, 27-0

By Gary King
Staff writer

WATERLOO — Friday marked the first night football game ever played at Waterloo High School.

But lights or no lights, not a soul in the stands could have possibly mistaken Trojan football circa '88 for the season's playoff days of a year ago, when the then-mighty Trojans disposed of teams such as Waterloo shortly after the national anthem.

This time it was Waterloo who did the disposing as the Bulldogs scored four second-half touchdowns to chalk up their first win in more than two years, 27-0.

Talk about humble beginnings...

"7-0, who'd have thought it?" said Trojan coach Don Smith. "We were the number one team in the state. I know we have some young guys and a little bit of rust right now, but the guys just got tired and then quit."

Waterloo coach Sid Allen, whose team finished last season, watched his squad do the ultimate 180-degree turn in its season opener. The two squads met last year, the Trojans controlled the line of scrimmage and, subsequently, the scoreboard.

On Friday, however, the Bulldogs' offensive line drove the Trojans straight to humility, especially in the second half. With the line creating meteor-sized holes, Bulldog junior halfback Denny Davis ran for everything but president, finishing with 122 of his squad's 189 total yards on 23 carries. Davis also boogied 31 yards on the first play of the fourth quarter for the Bulldogs' second touchdown.

While Davis was busy collecting 90 second-half rushing yards, Madison could scrape together only 40 yards total in the last two quarters.

In short, Davis' second-half running spree simply twisted a knife that needed no twisting at all as far as Madison was concerned.

How bad was the second half for Madison? If you didn't see it, get a video tape of those people in Australia beating baby seals.

"We wore them down, no doubt," said a perspiration-laden Allen. "Our line wore them down. When we scored that second touchdown, their interior line was just gone. We didn't run any new plays. We just asked our guys to execute and to keep their backs from running outside."

Mission accomplished.

After the Trojan defense thwarted three Waterloo first-half scoring threats, all of which died inside the Madison 20, the Bulldogs put the scoreboard operator to work late in the third quarter when quarterback Eric Maurer connected with tight end Eric Wetzel for a 24-yard touchdown strike.

After Davis visited paydirt for Waterloo's second score, fullback Rich Groves capped a four-play, 17-yard scoring drive which was born when Trojan punter Robbie Poston was unable to negotiate a snap from center on fourth down from the Madison 32.

Groves, who rushed seven times for 33 yards in the telltale second half, drove the final nail

Collins succeeds Essington as Trojan coach

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

MADISON — Much like John Wooden at UCLA and Vince Lombardi in Green Bay, Larry Graham continues to be a hard act to follow.

The Madison High School basketball program will be under its third head coach in five years this winter since Graham left in 1984 after his highly successful stint as Trojan coach.

Albert Collins, 47, is the latest to try his hand at bringing the Trojans back to the top. Collins was officially hired on Thursday to succeed Rich Essington, who resigned Aug. 18 to take a position at Edwardsville High School.

"It's a long time coming for me," said Collins. "I applied for the job four years ago when Larry left. It put a little damper on things when I didn't get it then, but I'm pleased to have the job now."

Graham won two state titles and nine consecutive regional championships before leaving to take the SIUE job. He was succeeded by Rodney Watson, who took the Trojans to state in 1985. He left in 1986 to take an assistant coaching position at the University of Nebraska-Omaha (he is now an assistant at SIUE).

Essington had a 31-20 record in two years at Madison, including a 20-8 season last year that ended with a regional title game loss to Venice. Essington lost all five games in two years against the Red Devils, a team he coached to the state championship in 1975.

Essington could not be reached for comment on Friday. But District 12 Superintendent Dan Kostencki indicated Essington's departure was less than amicable.

"If you can't say anything good, don't say anything," he said. "I thought we were putting together a pretty good team here. Let's talk about our new coach."

Albert Collins

Collins has been in the Madison school system for 23 years. He taught at Dunbar and Louis Baer schools before moving to Madison Middle School, where he has been since the school opened nine years ago.

"Al is a good man," said Kostencki. "He was our first and only choice when the opening came up. We accepted Rich's resignation at our Aug. 18 meeting. We had to post the job and we had a couple of inquiries. But Al was the one we wanted. He's a wonderful guy and he'll do a good job."

Rich Essington

Collins is originally from Mississippi, but graduated from Beaumont High School of St. Louis in 1965, attended Harris Teacher's College and got his bachelor's degree from SIUE in 1968. He received a master's degree from Webster University in 1977. He has coached basketball at the junior high level for 10 years and has coached track at the junior high and high school level for 15 years.

"I felt I had a good chance when I applied in 1984," Collins said. "I like to coach a running offense and pressure defense. Those things are traditions here at Madison and I want to keep that going. I don't think there will be any great changes."

The Trojans' primary Williams, Clarence Williams and Steve Sanders from last year's team. Back are key players like Jason Briggs, Aaron Jones and Jessie Leonard.

"I don't know how good we'll be," said Collins. "We do have some good young players coming up. I haven't talked to Rich since he left. I would like to talk with him. There is a lot of work to do before the season starts."

Kostencki said Essington will be an assistant girls' basketball coach at Edwardsville, as well as an assistant football and track coach.

GC golfers handle all except Tigers

The Warrior golf team really hasn't learned anything so far this season they didn't know before.

Such as, Granite City is one of the better programs in the area — but Edwardsville is still the team to beat. The Warriors scored four wins during the season's first week, but suffered a 20-stroke loss to the Tigers on Wednesday.

After the season-opening win over Alton Marquette on Tuesday, the Warriors shot 187 on Wednesday at Edwardsville while the Tigers shot 147. Richie Stolz and Jay Hepler both shot par (36). Mike Wilkinson and Dean Sheikh led Granite City as they both shot 40. Bill McCormick was next with a 45 and Chad Lane filled out the scorecard with a 41. Red Bud was at the meet and shot a 189.

Lane bounced back with a 38 on Thursday at Arlington as the Warriors shot 160 to top both Wood River (166) and Roxana (177). Wilkinson was next with a 39. McCormick shot a 41 and Tankley shot 42. Mike Farrell paced Wood River with a 37.

Local Regional Quale pairs a health tests

By Myron Struck
P-R/J Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — Indiana Sen. Dan Quayle is prone to getting nosebleeds, has a slight case of sun exposure, and needs to bring down his cholesterol level, according to his medical evaluation released by his Washington office yesterday.

But, overall, Dr. Robert C.J. Krasser, the attending physician of the Congress, said the Republican Vice Presidential nominee, who would like to be a heartbeater away from the presidency, was in "excellent health without any active problems."

Quayle, 41, went through a physical examination August 1 that concluded his health was satisfactory, "except for a small erosion with a superficial blood vessel on the right side" of the nasal septum that has been the source of past nosebleeds.

To keep himself in shape, Quayle has regularly exercised on a stationary bicycle one to three times per week—a habit that may become extinct as he hits the rigors of the vice-presidential campaign trail. Spokesman Jeff Nesbit said the senator plans to "run" on the campaign trail for exercise. The medical evaluation shows the senator apparently has no other prescription medication and does not smoke.

The report also details that Quayle used a "topical steroid" to alleviate the symptoms of the seasonal allergic rhinitis, an inflammation of the nasal mucous membrane.

Occasional outbreaks of "actinic keratosis"—a roughing of the surface of his skin on his face—has been attributed to sun exposure. The Senator is being treated with liquid nitrogen. "That just means he can't go out and play golf without sun lotion," said Nesbit.

Krasser said Quayle "should be reevaluated periodically and continue to use sun screen when out in the sun."

Quayle's internal organs appeared to be functioning normally, including a clean chest X-ray and EKG (electrocardiogram) to evaluate the smooth rhythm of the heart.

The doctor's probing detected a "small rectal fissure" which he said was not active during the examination. The senator was advised to have a routine screening sigmoidoscopy to check for cancer or other complications, during the next year.

To help bring down an increased level of cholesterol, Quayle was advised—as many Americans are—to observe a healthy diet. Quayle had a cholesterol figure of 228.

Quayle eats a light lunch and watches what he eats for breakfast, Nesbit said. The senator has a low white blood count, scoring 5.0 on a scale of 5.0 to 6.0. The doctor said the 147 against a scale that is considered normal from 133 to 145 and a high potassium level (5.1 against a permissible scale of 3.5 to 5.0).

The Office of the Attending Physician, ranging from the off-beat-

Gov. James R. Thompson said he will sign, with changes, legislation that begins improvements in Chicago schools. But he warned that "true reform has yet to be crafted."

The governor said, "The Chicago school strike of last fall left only one positive imprint—but it was an important one."

"It drew into action concerned parents and communities demanding greater involvement in the education of their children."

"They organized to express their concerns. They lobbied to express their frustration. And they made their voices heard to express the urgency of their educational needs."

"They learned how state government works and they followed the legislative process. That action was a healthy sign of interest in Chicago's future."

As one outcome of their extensive efforts, I looked forward in this session to receiving a bill that would have both energized the educational process in Chicago and funded critical educational needs in the city and elsewhere.

"That did not happen. The bill I received from the Legislature would be a beginning. It rearranges the bureaucracy, giving more power to parents concerning their local schools. That is good."

"But it does not do nearly enough to help the children in which our children are taught. And that is the ultimate aim of reform."

"We must begin at once to build on the foundation laid. Illinois has already drafted the blueprints to accomplish real education reform."

"The Education Reform Act of 1985 was passed by the Legislature and it received national praise for its depth and comprehensive understanding of what must be done in our schools."

"That program has yet to be fully realized and it is the pinnacle to which we must rise before we can be satisfied that true education reform is in place."

Thompson said his amendment to the bill would be applied to Senate Bill 1839 to make improvements in the following areas:

TECHNICAL CHANGE
Local School Improvement Councils should sunset once the initial election of Local School Councils is completed.

FINANCIAL CHANGES
School improvement plans should be required to estimate the costs and timeframe for addressing essential educational needs. The authorization of educational services with limited resources.

Early childhood education; Reducing class size; Reducing overcrowded schools; dropouts and optional education;

The removal of disruptive students.

"The City's Systemwide Plan will be required to address the effects of all the School Improvement Plans and to lay out specific financial and personnel plans for the implementation of the plan."

"Clarify the use of State Chapter 1 funds, assuring no major change in the school budget while make sure funds are used for this purpose."

"Require that a small amount of funds be held centrally for use among schools at a subdistrict, rather than individual school level, for priority programs."

These programs will include early childhood education and gifted child services.

"Require Local School Councils to return to the Board of Education unexpended funds, rather than reallocating them to their next year's budget.

"Revise the administrative cap mechanism. As written, the legislation creates financial hardships but does not necessarily remove only central office bureaucrats."

MAKING SCHOOLS MORE EFFECTIVE

"Remove the language that would have eliminated the high school magnet, vocational and technical schools."

"Require the Chicago Board of Education to study reports by the State Board of Education."

"The reports deal with the issue of 'parental choice of public schools' and institute this option on a phased-in basis."

"Ensure that desegregation requirements and program options meet federal requirements."

IMPROVING THE PRINCIPALS' ROLE AND MEETING STAFF NEEDS

"Eliminate language regarding 'superintendents.' That language would have restricted principals' ability in hiring by limiting initial hiring to tenured teachers coming from an eliminated position."

Two remediation periods currently provided in dealing with deficient teachers—a 45-day, in-class period, followed by a 15-day remediation period for teachers determined in the teacher evaluation to be deficient in skills but possible remediable."

"The system will be strengthened by allowing principals discretion in determining if the second remediation period should be spent inside or outside of the school."

"We must begin at once to build on the foundation laid. Illinois has already drafted the blueprints to accomplish real education reform."

"The Education Reform Act of 1985 was passed by the Legislature and it received national praise for its depth and comprehensive understanding of what must be done in our schools."

Ex-chancellor files suit against college

By Rick Arnold

BELLEVILLE — During his last few years as chancellor of BAC, Bruce Wissore had several runs with the college's Board of Trustees, disputes that eventually cost Wissore his job.

It's been almost nine months since the board removed Wissore as chancellor and placed him on the business faculty. And they still have not settled their differences.

Wissore's attorney, Edward Brennan, filed a lawsuit against the board in St. Clair County Circuit Court on Aug. 29, charging the board has not honored the terms of Wissore's two-year contract, which he signed on Aug. 16, 1987, and which expires June 30, 1989. The suit asks for $64,394.85 in salary losses and $5,151.59 in payments to the State University Retirement System (SURS) from Dec. 13 through June 30, 1989.

$6,617 in vacation pay, $3,294 in sick leave pay and $883 in SURS payments for the same time period.

$3,358 for 10 compensatory leave days and $269 in SURS payments for the period up to Dec. 12, 1987 (the date Wissore was removed from office).

$1,600 in tuition reimbursement for 16 hours of law classes, at $100 per hour, which he took at St. Louis University last year.

"Reimbursement for expenses he incurred by using his own car (his contract called for BAC to provide a car and to pay for gas and other costs) for lost SURS payments."

Brennan and Wissore contend the above items were guaranteed in Wissore's contract, but the board has withheld payments on these items.

Brennan said the lawsuit was filed as a last resort after it became clear that negotiations with BAC Board Attorney Robert Becker were going nowhere.

"Obviously, there's a disagreement on the interpretation of the contract," Brennan said.

Brennan would not comment on how close the two sides had come to an agreement.

Becker said he thought the two sides were close to a settlement, "but obviously I was wrong." He said he thinks the filing of the lawsuit will not hasten an agreement but will instead make it harder for an agreement to be reached.

"I can't read the minds of the board members but I think they will have a negative reaction to it," Becker said. "I think they will cause them to dig in their heels for a long fight."

The board did authorize a $75,000 payment to enter Brennan in December for unused vacation days, sick leave days and compensatory leave days that he had accumulated since April 16, when his contract began.

Board member Robert Dintelmman said Wissore's contract should have been settled long ago.

"It's a personal feeling is that the board is obligated to fulfill his contract," Dintelmman said.

He said he believed an agreement was never reached because certain board members want to get in their digs at Wissore.

"It's a case of board members wanting to get him," Dintelmman said. Dintelmman would not identify any board members by name.

Teaching role for Mansfield

By Edward T. Hearn
P-R/J Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — For Mike Mansfield, life after Capitol Hill is a seat at the front of the class.

Over the last few weeks, Mansfield, once a mover and shaker as head of the staff of the late Rep. Mel Price, has been combining the stacks in the Library Congress to prepare for his next job — junior college history teacher. Classes begin Sept. 6, but Mansfield won't leave the Hill until Sept. 13, saying he wants to protect his privacy.

Mansfield, 34, was Price's top aide in Washington for the last three years and held a number of positions on Price's staff for the previous seven years. Rather than continue to help shape laws, Mansfield's decided to share his experiences on Capitol Hill with the younger generation.

"I had some offers on the Hill," Mansfield said. "I'm doing what I want to do right now. So I'm lucky."

Mansfield returned to the Illinois Institute of Technology for an unsuccessful attempt to win the Democratic primary and succeed his mentor in Congress.

He returned to Washington, but in April the 83-year-old Price died of cancer. Mansfield ran the Washington office until former St. Clair County Board chairman Jerry Costello on Aug. 9 won a special election over Republican Robert Gaffner.

Mansfield wouldn't say whether Costello, his rival in the March primary, offered to keep him on the staff. But during the time the office was vacant, Mansfield decided to enter teaching.

"I had to realize toward the end it got kind of slow there," said Mansfield, who was usually busy because of Price's clout on the House Armed Service Committee.

"I like being busy, so I'm working harder now than I have been for a long time," said Mansfield, who received a master's degree in history in 1979 from Southern Illinois University. He later spent three years at Belleville Area College teaching history and government.

While he was willing to talk about his experiences, Mansfield declined to say exactly where he'll be teaching, other than it will be at a junior college in suburban Washington, D.C.

"I can make a lot of enemies" in politics, he said, adding that he didn't want his former experiences to intrude somehow on his new work.

Mansfield took the local offer over a similar one in Clemson, S.C., where he could continue as a civil engineer at the Voice of America.

He's tough to get up and leave on a moment's notice," he said.

Mansfield said he will begin teaching world civilization and American history to freshmen and sophomores. Since the U.S. history course starts at about Civil War Reconstruction, his students will have to wait the second semester to learn of Price's achievements of 42 years in the House.
